Convenience, Expediency and Southern Hospitality: Augusta Aviation Offers Golf Fanatics Fast Service with a Smile.

Augusta Aviation Gears Up for Travelers Attending The 2006 Masters Golf Tournament.

Salem, OR – March 15, 2006 - During the week of April 3rd, Augusta Aviation will welcome golf fans and travelers attending the 70th Annual Masters Golf Tournament. Located less than three miles from Augusta National Golf Course, Augusta Aviation will offer convenient taxi service and/or car rental to travelers attending the golf tournament. A hospitality suite co-sponsored by their fuel supplier, Air BP, will serve up fresh continental breakfasts and home-style lunches for their guests daily.

Augusta Aviation is located at Daniel Field (DNL) and has two lit runways which can easily accommodate light to medium jets and turbo prop aircraft. For convenience of pilots and travelers, the FAA will operate a temporary Air Traffic Control Tower at DNL from Wednesday, April 5 through Monday, April 9. Augusta Aviation's amenities include a pilot's lounge, catering, flight planning room, free wireless internet access and more. Aircraft fuelling, detailing and ramp space for parking are also available.

Tired travelers attending the Masters Golf Tournament will experience the warm welcomes and friendly smiles that regular patrons of Augusta Aviation have grown to know and expect. For more information about Augusta Aviation at Daniel Field, visit their website: www.augustaaviation.com.
