Black Canyon Jet Center of Montrose Valley, Colorado Revitalizes
A County Airport Into a New Concept FBO.

Extensive Remodels, Construction and Customer Service Training Transforms Black Canyon Jet Center Into a High Class FBO Scheduled to be Completed and Open in Fall of 2006.

Salem, OR – March 10, 2006 - Scheduled to be complete in the late Fall of 2006, Air BP Dealer, Black Canyon Jet Center (BCJC) is undergoing changes to accommodate travelers flying into western Colorado. River rock walls, towering timber beams and textured concrete accent the two million dollar renovation and facility upgrade. A new hangar was constructed specifically for Gulfstream V and Challenger sized aircrafts providing first-class facilities for business aviation.

“We wanted to create an experience of excellence for our guests,” says Kevin Scott. “With our development of this new facility, specialized customer service training for our staff, and extensive services, we hope to meet that goal.”

Skiing, hiking, biking, sightseeing, white water rafting, shopping and dining, in addition to theater festivals and symphonies, make Montrose Valley a four season playground that is desired by many. Montrose Valley is also a gateway to Vail, Aspen and Telluride locales. Black Canyon Jet Center will strive to achieve top notch status at their FBO.

Black Canyon Jet Center is owned by Jet Center Partners, a privately held Colorado Limited Liability Company based in Montrose, CO. The sole owners and founders are: Kevin Scott, Managing Partner, Jim Rumble and Kevin Egan, General Partners. Each of the three partners have extensive experience with FBO ownership and are active pilots with collectively over 60 years of flying experience.
